Peek Inside the Book

But racism is most outrageously to the fore in Ashraf and Anjab, in which the sadistically villainous Anjab is described by Harun al-Rashid as follows: This man is black as a negro with red eyes, a nose like a clay pot and lips like kidneys, and his mother is no better looking for she was black as pitch with a snub nose, red eyes and an unpleasant smell. In Said...

Reader's Opinions

I like folk tales, myths, and legends, so I was excited to read this book. Many of these stories are wonderful, but overall the book suffers from some unevenness and a bit of repetition. (I recommend taking a break now and then for some other reading - coming back after some time away will...
