

SENSE AND NON-SENSE

Written between 1945 and 1947, the essays in Sense and Non-Sense provide an excellent introduction to Merleau-Ponty's thought. They summarize his previous insights and exhibit their widest range of application-in aesthetics, ethics, politics, and the sciences of man. Each essay opens new perspectives to man's search for reason. The first part of Sense and Non-Sense, "Arts," is concerned with Merleau-Ponty's concepts of perception, which were advanced in his major philosophical treatise, Phenomenology of Perception. Here the analysis is focused and enriched in descriptions...

Reader's Opinions

There is a fantastic essay on Sartre in this book - to paraphrase - "now and then the world should have to come face to face with a free man"

A good collection of Merleau-Ponty's essays/articles from Les Temps Moderns.
