

CITIZEN 13660

Mine Okubo was one of more than a hundred thousand people of Japanese descent - nearly two-thirds of whom were American citizens - who were forced into "protective custody" shortly after the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Citizen 13660, Okubo's illustrated memoir of life in relocation centers in California and Utah, illuminates this experience with poignant drawings and witty, candid text. This classic in Asian...

Reader's Opinions

BEWARE of spoilers. Remember, one man's bookflap summary is another man's spoiler. I have talked to elderly Japanese Americans who were interned during World War II. I also have read history books about this war-time period. But the visuals in Citizen 13660 brought home the terrible homefront truths of that era in a new powerful way. One...
