

THE UNTHINKABLE THOUGHTS OF JACOB GREEN

It's 1977. Jacob Green, a Jewish kid from suburban New Jersey, sits on the stairs during his family's housewarming party, waiting for his father, Abram--charming host, everyone's best friend, and amateur emcee--to introduce him to the crowd. Housewarming parties, Annie Hall parties, and bar mitzvah parties punctuate Jacob's childhood and require command performances by all...

Peek Inside the Book

One's 'thing'--(1) A point of personal interest; a hobby, sport, or avocation that succinctly defines a person. (2) A brief coupling of words used to evoke someone's personality in a small-talk setting: Billy's thing used to be soccer; now it's masturbation. (3) A laconic summation of one's character and interests used for the purpose of categorization and judgement. See also 'What do you do?' Joshua Braff, The Unthinkable Thoughts of Jacob Green //

Reader's Opinions

If it was possible to give something half stars, I would give this 4.5. It was super well written, funny at times. Braff is really good at "showing not telling". The characters were awesome and believable. The minus...
